Crystal chandelier design by Lolli e Memmoli

Italian lighting design company Lolli e Memmoli has come up with an incredible crystal chandelier design series that has a striking impact. The unique lighting body collection is called Ugolino and is available in different colors and shapes, though all of it shares the rich use of crystal. The design represents a composition of crystals entangled together in a fine structure that is hung from a frame. The crystals fall down gracefully and create the effect of flowing water. The crystal chandelier design implies luxury and has the power to create a unique majestic atmosphere in the room.

Ugolino is available in white as well as in a warm color palette of yellow, orange and red. Each model has a different character and can be used in various spaces at home or in public environment. The white crystal chandelier design is the classic version that shows the purity and brilliance of limpid crystal. It goes with a more neutral environment and can be easily combined with different furniture. The yellow version of the Ugolino chandelier is more festive and regal, bringing splendor in the room. It is a good choice for a room where you might host dinners or as a reference to some lavish classical interior design.
